MUNITIONS OF WAR CROSSING THE LINE

to the Mexican belligerents were received by both the United States army and customs officials. The order came suddenly that the rebel leaders at Juarez were prepared for it, for, they said, had they been prepared large supplies would have been held in readiness on the American side. It was stated that the next few weeks will witness shipments to Juarez as rapidly as carloads can be brought to El Paso.

Agents of General Villa made the rounds of dealers in El Paso today to buy up all suitable arms, but they reported that the stocks had been depleted. Notwithstanding this, customs officials received word that more than 500,000 rounds of ammunition in the last month were shipped to El Paso from various points.

The 500,000 rounds of ammunition and numerous rifles and machine guns, which were seized by the United States troops from the federalists when the latter crossed from Ojinaga, will not be affected by the lifting of the embargo, but will be held at Fort Bliss.

Spaniards in El Paso who have relations in northern Mexico were much concerned over General Villa's positive statement that he intended to deal summarily with any Spaniards who might be captured by the federalists. In Washington that General Villa was misunderstood, the rebel leader said emphatically.

Surviving members of the family are the widow, three daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Roy Hall of Los Angeles, Mrs. Oscar Williams and Miss Alice Farrell of this city. J. W. Farrell, Jr., is the only son.

Prior to coming to Utah, Mr. Farrell was a pioneer of Virginia, and he lived in the palm days of that famous mining camp, and was there associated with Judge C. C. Goodwin of this city, as well as with John W. Mackay, late senator James G. Fair of California.

He invited the newspapers to send correspondents to Mexico, saying that he would place them in a position where they could ascertain the truth concerning conditions in the republic.

Second Forced Loan.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—A second forced loan upon the Mexican state of Tabasco, which is expected to bring the total in that state to nearly $1,000,000, was levied last week upon wealthy Spanish planters and merchants, according to refugees arriving here today. Among the refugees was the famous Mexican, Urdapilleta, secretary of state of Campeche under the administration of former Governor Emmanuel C. Brito.

Senator Urdapilleta said that upon her arrival at Frontera from Campeche the jewelry of members of the family taken by the federalists was returned only upon the appeal of personal friends. He said Huerta's officials even searched their stockings for loot. Refugees brought news that the restoration in Tabasco headed by Colonel Luis Felipe Dominguez, who recently departed from New Orleans, had spread to the coast. It was said that Major Villanueva, with 200 men, had been defeated at Santana bar with forty-five killed and fifty wounded and that federalists were forced to retreat with losses at San Juan Bautista.

Italian Consul Freed.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 4.—Dr. Luis Paparelli, Italian consul for the Mexican states of Durango and Coahuila, has been released at Piedras Negras, Mexico, by the federal authorities, according to a message from Consul Blocker to Dr. D. Paparelli, the consul. He had been detained by General Alvarez, commander of the Piedras Negras garrison.

Patrol Withdrawn.

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., Feb. 4.—As a result of President Wilson's proclamation lifting the embargo against the exportation of arms and munitions to Mexico, New Mexico headquarters officers of the Ninth cavalry withdrew border patrols under their jurisdiction along the international boundary today.

The various patrols struck their camps along the border and assembled at a general camp one mile outside Douglas, where, it is said, they will remain for the present. Two hundred federal deserters have reached the rebel outpost at La Pasion, Sonora, according to reports received here today. The deserters reported a sharp fight with loyal federalists while breaking through the federal lines, but escaped without serious loss. They said they had been forced into Huerta's service and had not been paid for months.

Local constitutionalists received a telegram today stating that Governor Jose M. Maytorena of Sonora had returned to Hermosillo, from Culiacan with news that General Carranza would follow him within a week or ten days, en route for Chihuahua.

JOHN W. FARRELL, well-known plumber and contractor of Salt Lake, who died yesterday of heart disease.

DEATH CALL COMES TO J. W. FARRELL

John W. Farrell, aged 55, a veteran plumber of Salt Lake City, died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 426 South Fourth East street. Death was due to heart disease, from which Mr. Farrell had suffered for several months. Funeral services will be held at the residence Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the City cemetery.

Mr. Farrell was a native of Newark, N. J., but had resided in Salt Lake City for thirty years. He had been prominently identified with the plumbing business for more than a score of years, having done the plumbing of the city and county building in 1892, also installing the electric wiring and steam heating plant for that structure. He was city plumbing inspector under Mayor John S. Brunsford.

Surviving members of the family are the widow, three daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Roy Hall of Los Angeles, Mrs. Oscar Williams and Miss Alice Farrell of this city. J. W. Farrell, Jr., is the only son.

Prior to coming to Utah, Mr. Farrell was a pioneer of Virginia, and he lived in the palm days of that famous mining camp, and was there associated with Judge C. C. Goodwin of this city, as well as with John W. Mackay, late senator James G. Fair of California.

He invited the newspapers to send correspondents to Mexico, saying that he would place them in a position where they could ascertain the truth concerning conditions in the republic.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "cathartic laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. (Advertisement.)

WESTERN COLLEGES TO BE REPRESENTED

By Staff Correspondent.

LOGAN, Feb. 4.—The first convention of the leaders in the western agricultural colleges will open at the Utah Agricultural college here today. Representatives are expected from the agricultural colleges of Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Washington, Nevada and California. Each institution is entitled to representation from its experiment station, its college and its extension division. The colleges will be represented by the presidents, the experiment stations and the extension divisions by their directors.

The aim of the organization of western agricultural college leaders will be to work co-operatively for the benefit and interests of western needs. Permanent officers will be elected and it is the hope of those most interested in the initial meeting to make the organization a permanent institution. Dean W. S. Carlyle of the University of Idaho agricultural department will act as temporary chairman of the meeting.

"The western agricultural colleges are members of the National Organization of Agricultural Colleges, but we feel that out here in the west we have problems that are our own," said President John A. Bauman, who presided over the meeting in discussing the coming meeting. "It is these problems that we intend to discuss. The half dozen or more western colleges are serving a territory as great as the numerous colleges of the east and a territory in which there is more need of direction for development work. Yet our finances are limited and we believe that through co-operation we can use our means and resources to better advantage."

Furthermore, continued Mr. Widtsoe, "we hope to be able to establish more uniform entrance and graduation requirements, recommendations, degrees, and both to the national congress and the various state legislatures. We hope to be able to co-operate in increasing our extension work and avoid the duplication of experimental work by exchanging information regarding the experiments conducted at the various state stations. I believe that much can be done by the organization and that its influence will be widely felt throughout the west."

STREET SWEEPER IS RUN DOWN BY WAGON

Run down by a delivery wagon at Second West and First South streets yesterday afternoon, John Bauman, an employee of the city street department, is in the county hospital with a fractured ankle and a wrenched shoulder.

Bauman, who is 50 years of age, was engaged at his task as a street sweeper when the wagon struck him. The driver did not stop to see what injury the aged man had suffered. Bauman was taken to the emergency hospital in the police patrol and attended by Dr. H. L. Sprague. He lives at 331 West Fifth South street.

GOVERNMENT OF PERU IN HANDS OF REBELS

solve congress when it refused to support his measures. A revolution was inevitable.

President Leguia, who left Peru, virtually exiled, it was said, after an attack on his house by government soldiers, was recently in New York and now is said to be in London. Leguia opposed the candidacy of Billinghurst and was charged that Billinghurst was responsible for the attack on him.

Isaías Pierola, son of a former president of Peru, and described as leader of the attack on Leguia, is now in New York. When Consul-General Higginson told him the news from Peru he would make no comment.

PLACES WILSON IN AWKWARD POSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Today's spectacular and successful revolution in Peru found the United States navy without a single warship south of the equator. The work of the revolutionists was so complete, however, that there is no need of haste in dispatching a vessel to the scene.

It may be necessary, however, for the United States to have at hand means of supporting any representations that the state department may decide to make regarding the new government to rise on the ruins of the Billinghurst administration. News came to the department late in the day from the American legation in Lima of the arrest of President Billinghurst, but the brief dispatch did not indicate the plans of the revolutionists.

That some embarrassment may be experienced in adjusting the pronounced views of the administration regarding revolution-made governments to the present state of affairs in Peru was admitted in some quarters. It was pointed out, however, that owing to the peculiar conditions under which President Billinghurst came into office a year ago, with a cloud on his own title, it may not now be necessary to raise the question as to the status of his successor.

Some officials are inclined to believe that ex-President Leguia, who was forced to flee from Peru by Billinghurst some time ago, was behind today's uprising. Leguia was in Washington a few weeks ago, but at last reports had gone to London to procure financial backing for an attempt to overturn the Billinghurst government.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and any first-class drug store, or druggist, are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case. (Advertisement.)
